Buffalo Band Playing at Keuka College

KEUKA PARK, N.Y. — The Buffalo-based band Last Conservative will perform at Keuka College Thursday, March 9.

The performance begins at 9 p.m. in the Geiser Refectory. It is free and open to the public.

Formed in 1997, Last Conservative released its first single, Cardboard Soul, in early 1998. Their second single, Don't Touch Me, garnered much airplay on Buffalo and college radio stations.

Compared to such bands as Counting Crows and Our Lady Peace, the band released its first album, Unremarkable, in 1999. Following the release of the CD, Last Conservative toured in the United States and Canada, including a showcase performance at the North By Northeast Festival.

In early 2001, the band returned to the studio with producers and engineers who had worked with another Buffalo group, the Goo Goo Dolls. The result of that effort was These In-Between Times, released in 2002.

Last Conservative has opened for Ours, Nickelback, and Gigolo Aunts, as well as sharing the stage with Jimmy Eat World, Cold, and Sum 41, among others.
